Quick Check

Malnutrition is a complex medical topic. But if you'd like to get an initial impression whether you are at-risk for malnutrition or not, please check these four questions:

1. Have you lost weight in the last 3-6 months? If so, was it 5% or more than your usual body weight?
2. Is your BMI less than 20?
3. Do you eat and drink less than before your diagnosis? Have your portions gotten smaller?
4. Is it hard for you to get enough to eat and drink, because you suffer from a loss of appetite, inflammation in the mouth, fatigue, pain, smell aversions, depression or other side effects?

In case your answer is yes to one or more of these questions please discuss this with your treating physician.

Nutricomp® Drink

Power to stay.
Energy to go ahead.

Fighting malnutrition is highly recommended by the medical community. Nutricomp® Drinks are nutritionally complete sip feeds, which are very tasty, rich in nutrients, and contain high levels of energy and proteins. They can be used to supplement your normal food with additional calories and protein or as the sole source of nutrition. Ask your doctor or dietician how Nutricomp® Drinks may help to improve your nutrient intake.

Regain resources.

Remune™

Refresh and replenish.

Remune™ is a partially balanced Food for Special Medical Purposes, high in omega-3 fatty acids from fish oil, high in vitamin D, and a source of high value whey protein, which helps you to supplement the nutrients your body needs. Remune™ is available in two refreshing flavors: raspberry and peach. The secret of Remune™: Unlike similar products, 86% of it is based on fruit juices instead of dairy items.

Specifically developed for patients with cancer cachexia and pre-cachexia. Use only under medical supervision.
